Team standings

- Four rounds to the World Cup Final: Qualifying, First Round, Second round, Playoffs.
- 172 teams in six Geographical Zones begin the tournament; 32 advance to the First Round; 16 advance to the Final Round. (See World Cup Qualification Zones and Matchups section for descriptions of each Zone and its qualifying procedures.)

Byes

- In the 1998 World Cup, Brazil and France are scheduled to receive byes in the Qualifying Round and begin play in the First Round. However, if you select one of these teams for the Qualifying Round, a random team from their respective Zone receives a bye.
- Some teams receive byes within their Zone's Qualifying Round. If you control one of these teams, your team automatically advances to the appropriate sub-round within that zone.

Tiebreaker

If teams end a round with the same point total, three formats are used to determine a winner:

- a) Goal difference (goals for - goals against = goal difference): if the difference is equal, the winner is the team that scored the most goals.
- b) If teams are still tied, the number of goals scored in direct encounters determines the winner.
- c) If teams are still tied, the player controlled team is declared the winner. If more than one player controlled team is tied, officials draw lots.
- d) If two non-user controlled teams are still tied, one is randomly selected.

Qualification Zones And Matchups

Following is a complete description of the qualification procedures for each of the six geographical zones:

To determine the best runner-up of the nine groups (after the group ranking is complete) only the matches played against the teams ranking first, third and fourth in each group are considered. The following conditions apply in this order:

- Points gained in matches against teams coming first, third and fourth; goal difference in these games; higher number of goals scored in these games; higher number of goals scored against these opponents in the away games. If teams are still tied the player controlled team is declared the winner. If more than one player controlled team is tied, officials draw lots.
- The eight other runners-up (one from each group) are drawn by lots into four pairs and play a qualifying Home-and-Away series. The four winners determined by these pairings qualify for the World Cup.
